

ServiceNow QuickStart for Performance Analytics

Overview

The ServiceNow QuickStart for Performance Analytics is designed to help customers start using ServiceNow Performance Analytics quickly and easily. It provides a pre-defined package of activities to activate the product's capabilities and guide customers through ServiceNow best practices.

This package is available for customers using the Fuji, Geneva, Helsinki or later versions of ServiceNow, who wish to use Performance Analytics for supported applications. Please refer to the product applicability section.

The QuickStart includes:

- Essentials – a standard process of enabling the functionality in a customer's development instance, adjusting the Performance Analytics Content Packs to suit typical configurations.
- Optimize – a series of workshops and hands-on working sessions. A ServiceNow certified Professional Services consultant will work with the customer to identify appropriate custom Key Performance Indicators (KPIs) that will record product process effectiveness. The consultant will provide 16 hours of hands-on support to the customer's administration team, enabling them to implement further indicators and breakdowns.

Package Description and Aim

The ServiceNow QuickStart for Performance Analytics pairs quick activation of Performance Analytics in the customer's production instance; alongside expert advice and guidance to enable the customer to begin using and personalizing the product

The package provides enablement of the customer's team, and, in conjunction with the Performance Analytics Education Services available (sold separately), to provide the skills and knowledge to begin the transformation of the customer's reporting. The customer's Performance Analytics Administrators and Power Users will complete any implementation activities to facilitate knowledge transfer.

Limited time is provided for tailoring the Content Packs to the customer's needs. This package is not suitable for customers who have already started using Performance Analytics. Further services can be purchased for more KPI advice and guidance, and bespoke implementation activities.

Product applicability

ServiceNow provides Content Packs that give best practice indicators and dashboards for several ServiceNow products. ServiceNow Essentials includes the activation and personalization of one Content Pack collection that is dependent upon the version of ServiceNow:

Version	Content Pack collection availability
Fuji, Geneva	IT Service Management (includes Incident, Incident SLA, Problem, Change, Request)
Helsinki	IT Service Management (includes Incident, Incident SLA, Problem, Change, Request), Cloud Management, Configuration Management (CMDB), Customer Service, Event Management, Financial Management, Human Resources, Project Portfolio Suite, Service Desk Chat

Customer Process Owner involvement

Performance Analytics is a powerful application that gives insight into the performance of Service Management processes, through visualizations and drill-down breakdowns. The workshops rely upon the customer’s process owner being present, and having a good understanding of their business aims and objectives.

Performance Analytics Administrator Training Requirements

Prior to the first day of the project, the customer shall designate an administrator who has successfully completed the appropriate Performance Analytics training courses (sold separately). Having the basic understanding of how to administrate Performance Analytics is critical for effective knowledge transfer, allowing the customer to better align Performance Analytics to their business and process goals.
